OFFICE HOLDERS IN FRANCE MUST ENLIST FOR WAR

Discuss Question if Military is Necessary for Public Candidates

PARIS.—French politicians are already much interested in the question whether it will be necessary for candidates for public office after the re-establishment of peace, to have a war record. Some members of the chamber of deputies who have stuck to the Palais Bourbon instead of joining the army have shown irritation at the publicity given to exploits of their colleagues, some of whom have been killed and others like Monsieur Maginot, former assistant secretary of war, have been repeatedly cited in the orders of the day.

One deputy, who recently returned to Paris on leave of absence, said he had found that presence at the front was far better than an electoral campaign for his political interests as well as for the salvation of the country. "Besides," he said, "it is for the cannon to do the speaking now."

One socialist deputy, interrupting an orator who was recalling the exploits of one of their colleagues at the front, declared: "It is not his place; his place is here." This opinion seems to be shared by a considerable majority of the parliament but not altogether by the public. The municipal council of the city of Neuilly, whose mayor, Monsieur Norther, who was also a deputy and who enlisted at 60 years of age, carried the colors of his regiment and was killed on the battlefield, passed unanimously the following resolution:

"The municipal council of the city of Neuilly-sur-Seine whose mayor, deputy for the Department of the Seine, fell on the field of honor, considering that the defense of the country is the first duty of a citizen, that equality before the law is the formal right of Frenchmen whoever they may be and that no member of any elective body should seek to avoid it, that the representatives of the people should be the first to give the example of respect for the law and the duties of citizens, expresses the wish that all senators and deputies of military fitness be obliged to do their military duty as all other citizens."

Socialists, radicals, radical socialists and other elements of the Left see in all such illusions an attack upon the parliament, and considerable anxiety is betrayed in certain parties as to whether this spirit will grow and what effect it will have on politics when hostilities have ceased on the field of battle. There have also appeared speculations as to the accounts that must inevitably be rendered after the war by parties responsible for obstructing or neglecting the development of armaments in the face of Germany's obvious preparation. Advanced radicals appear to look to the activity in Catholic circles to renovate their anti-clerical issue and thus offset the war issue. The direction taken by political movements in France is so susceptible of unexpected developments that speculation is vague, but not a few far-seeing men look for marked changes in the next general political campaign which in the ordinary course of events will take place in the spring of 1918 when the chamber of deputies is renewed.

Colorado has doubled the valuation on all sugar factories in the state for the purpose of taxation.
